HANNA.

Was Elected on Joint Ballot Today.

Slid Into Office and No Vote to Spare.

Columbus, Jan. 12.—After one of the worst political fights on record this afternoon Marcus A. Hanna was elected United States senator for both the short and long terms.

The vote on the joint ballot resulted as follows: Hanna, 73; McKisson, 70; Lentz, 1.

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—The democratic steering committee has acknowledged the weakness of its position in the senatorial fight by forsaking the banner of Mayor McKisson and agreeing upon Jephtha Gerard of Cincinnati as the new fusion candidate for United States senator.

Indications this afternoon are that no change will be made in the Hanna vote.

THE INDIANS.

Officials in Indian Territory Worried Over the Situation.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Jan. 12.—Official circles here are all stirred up over the news of the Seminole uprising and Marshal Bennett who was to leave for Washington postponed his trip and will leave today with his deputy for the scene of the trouble.

Troops of cavalry are on their way to the Seminole nation and will arrive there sometime today.

GOOD ADVICE.

Morton Hill People Advised to Use the Street Car.

EDITOR EVENING NEWS: Before the street car line was built on Morton Hill many of the residents complained bitterly and made promises that would have made many a railroad prospector happy. They would all ride and patronize it well but I am afraid they either thought they would be carried free or else they would use the plank-ing as a convenient foot path. Considering these promises there must be a lot of people with guilty consciences.

Residents of Morton Hill should remember that this line should be encouraged and the fact of your telling the managers of the line that you are glad to see them running don't pay for the feed for their mules, and the conductor and driver don't like to live on the kind of food that those kind wishes buy, commonly called wind pudding.

Get in the car and push a good thing along, buy a quarter's worth of tickets. EDWARDS AVENUE.

LOVED AT SCHOOL

North Dakota Man Comes Here to Claim His Bride.

Years ago Miss Rose G. Van Horn, one of the typewriters employed by the Phoenix Accident association in this city, was a schoolgirl at Chadron, Neb., and one of her playmates was A. F. Rothwell, now of Fargo, N. D. The children in their play learned to love each other.

They were separated and for some time they lost sight of each other. A few months ago they began corresponding and the old love was revived. Mr. Rothwell arrived here a few days ago and last evening the young people were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. J. N. Wilson.

Mr. Rothwell is a mason and contractor at Fargo, and they will begin housekeeping in that city in the early spring.

NOON-DAY FIRE.

OLD HOME OF DR. KNEELAND IS A TOTAL WRECK.

Fire Originated in the Rear of the House While the Occupants Were Away.

The fine residence at 239 Broadway which was built a few years ago by Dr. R. A. Kneeland, but which was sold last spring to H. F. Edwards, who is now in Fargo, North Dakota, was discovered to be on fire about 12:45 today and in spite of the quick action of hose companies No. 1 and 2, it is now almost a total wreck.

The fire was discovered as it was breaking through the roof in the rear of the building by one of the neighbors and Day Police Crawford who lives near was notified and telephoned to the central station from which place a general alarm was sounded. The house was occupied by Rev. D. Matthews and family in the lower part and Mrs. Joseph Ferry had dressmaking parlors in the rooms on the second floor. Unfortunately both families were away from home and the firemen were compelled to break open the doors to save any of the contents.

Last spring when H. F. Edwards purchased the property he paid $1,900 and then expended about $300 more in painting and papering and giving the house repairs.

The house was insured for $1,800 through the agency of Rounds & Warner in the following companies: $1,000 in the Rockford and $800 in the Cooper. The fire department did good work and it was owing to their prompt action that the home of William Martin, who lives next door, was saved.

FIRST OF 1898.

Initial Thunder Storm Visited This City Last Night.

The first thunder storm of the new year visited this city at 2 o'clock this morning. A large amount of rain fell and the lightning flashes were very vivid.

CYCLONE

It Visited Fort Smith, Ark., Last Evening.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 12.—A cyclone visited this city last evening leaving death and ruin in its wake.

Some of the best residences and several of the finest public buildings in the place were demolished.

Already 18 dead corpses repose in the morgue and others are being searched for in the debris. It is estimated that the total number of deaths will reach 50.

To add to the terror and horror of the scene fire broke out in the ruins and added many victims to the already appalling number.

ALGER GUARD NOTES.

Quite a number of the Alger Guard took advantage of the squad drill last night at the armory.

It is specially requested that all members be present at the regular drill tonight as several matters of importance concerning the welfare and future of the company will be considered after the drill.

As soon as the company is mustered in the National Guard, all members will be furnished with new uniforms and equipments throughout.

If sufficient number of members are at drill tonight platoon work will be taken up again.

An Explosive Social.

An "Explosive Motto" social will be given under the auspices of the Epworth league at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. French, Friday evening, January 14.

It promises to be the most unique and novel entertainment of the kind ever given here. Refreshments will be served, also a short musical program will be rendered. Everybody is most cordially invited.

Striking a Tooth.

"How many times do you suppose a dentist strikes each piece of gold that he puts into a cavity?" asked a recent fugitive from the chair of dental torment. "You can form some estimate by my count today. On one piece of gold I counted 80 blows of the dental hammer. When the blows were struck in groups—a number of quickly repeated strokes and an interval—I could not count, but at one time, with every stroke, I counted 80."—New York Times.

ANOTHER INJUNCTION.

It Stopped the Meeting of Tunnel Stockholders Appointed to Be Held Today.

ADJOURNED UNTIL TOMORROW

It Is Doubtful If It Can Then Be Held in Face of the Injunction.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Benton Harbor tunnel road advertised for this afternoon was not held. President J. W. Hamilton came over from Chicago to attend the meeting and when everything was in readiness for the looked-forward-to gathering the wily vicepresident, H. D. Deam walked into the office of the company armed with Constable Sinsabaugh and an injunction restraining the company from holding the election on the grounds set forth in the complaint printed below. The meeting was adjourned until tomorrow afternoon when it is hoped to get around the injunction. If no election is held the business of the company will be tied up for many months more.

Deam has also served notice on the capitalists here to build the road that the company will ratify no bargain they make with the Davies people.

Following is the complaint that furnished ground for the injunction:

"Henry D. Deam, John S. Moats and Andrew H. Deam have each sold and assigned part of the stock originally held by them and sought to have the said sales of stock transferred to the books of the company. Whereupon William H. Hollis, Charles G. Davies with the assistance of others fraudulently and forcibly removed the books and papers of said company from the offices of said company and have concealed the said books and records so as to prevent said transfers by absolute refusal to transfer any stock whatever since the 14th day of December, 1897, therefore the innocent purchasers of said stock from the above said Henry D. Deam, John S. Moats and Andrew H. Deam, are defrauded of their rightful privilege of voting said stock and are thereby prevented from exercising the prerogatives which protects their interests, that said complainants have been denied access to said books continuously since January 1, 1898. That in advertising the stockholders' meeting for the election of directors the said William H. Hollis directed the advertisement to be so inserted in the Detroit papers so as to be illegal and consequently invalidates the election of directors, should any election be held under said advertisement. Therefore your petitioners respectfully pray that an order be issued out of this court enjoining and restraining the Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit Co., William H. Hollis, Charles G. Davies, Henry W. Griswold, C. W. Griswold, Emma Davies, Charles S. Nell, John W. Hamilton, J. E. Hamilton, J. L. Garver and William H. Spencer, their agents or attorneys or assigns, agents or attorneys from voting the 100 shares of stock or any part thereof originally issued to John L. Deam and now owned by Stuart F. Marchant and also from voting the 100 shares of stock or any part thereof to Henry W. Griswold and that the said defendants be enjoined from holding said election."

AN OPINION.

JUDGE COOLIDGE HANDS IT DOWN IN THE TELEPHONE CASE.

Injunction Is Denied in Case of Benton Harbor and Attorney's Fees Allowed.

Judge Coolidge has just handed down his decisions in the case of the Bell Telephone company vs. the City of Benton Harbor and vs. the City of St. Joseph. The Bell people had asked for a preliminary injunction restraining the two cities from disturbing any poles it might erect on the streets of the two cities and alleged that the statute of the state allowed them to put their poles on any of the streets in the state. The attorneys for the cities contended that the statute did not apply to streets in cities.

The judge rendered two different opinions. In the St. Joseph case he required the council to make certain changes in its ordinance relating to the matter. In the case of Benton Harbor he refused the injunction and allowed the city an attorney's fee of $20. It is expected that the matter will be carried to the circuit court and fought to the end.

City Attorney Ellsworth was seen by THE NEWS this afternoon and while he seemed greatly pleased over the result he had nothing to say for publication.

City Attorney O'Hara says the court overlooked one vital point in his opinion and that the judge will be asked to modify his opinion.

ENTERPRISE MERCANTILE

A MASTER OF MAGIC.

Maro Picked Apples from Air, Coins from Hair and Whiskers and Mystified Everybody.

HIS TRICKS NOT DETECTED.

He Pulled a Long Fish Pole, Live Duck, and Other Things from R. M. Jones' Vest.

Benton Harbor never knew what a crowd surging the doors of a church for admission was until last evening. The doors of the Methodist church were opened for the Maro entertainment at 7:30 and it was half an hour later until the crowd in front of the church was cleared. It was the largest audience that ever attended an entertainment at the church. The lecture committee had no idea of the vast number waiting admittance or they would have opened the tower entrance of the church as well as the main entrance.

Prof. Maro is the most wonderful sleight-of-hand performer ever seen in the city. He began the entertainment by throwing cards about the church, little flimsy pieces of pasteboard containing his picture. These he threw with no seeming effort to all parts of the house, even reaching the galleries. Then he went rapidly from one trick to another, doing the most remarkable things and no one could see how. He had a piece of brown paper and rolled it into the shape of a cornucopia and showed it to the audience empty. Then instantly he again exhibited the receptacle and it contained a bouquet of flowers. This he continued until from seemingly nowhere he had called on the stage half a bushel of flowers. He borrowed the hat of C. D. Jennings and right before the face of the audience and to the surprise of Mr. Jennings he pulled out a pack of cards that looked as though they had done long service. The hat was given another shake and out crawled two nice white rabbits that looked very cunning and seemed to enjoy their strange surroundings. The magician picked up the rabbits and declared that he had no use for more than one and so he put one inside of the other, at least he said he did, and it looked as though he was keeping his word. Presently he accused James Bailey of taking one of the rabbits and he rushed down to the middle of the church and pulled the little white rabbit from under Mr. Bailey's coat. He picked apples out of the air, silver coins from the hair and whiskers of the audience and did a hundred other things that could not be explained.

The second part of the program consisted of music, and Maro showed himself an artistic player on several instruments the best being the music he drew from a banjo that had but one string. The spiritual seance was not given as the stage was too small for its introduction.

The entertainment closed by the professor getting R. M. Jones to the platform. The magician first removed several packs of cards from the vest of his victim, then drew a 10 foot fish from the inside pocket of the same and after that about 25 yards of rope. There was great applause as the professor reached inside and pulled out a live duck. Maro bowed and then pulled over as Maro bowed off the stage.

In order to perform his tricks Maro carries with him a drayload of fixtures, including cages for his duck and two white rabbits. He came here from Marshall yesterday and in making the transfer at Niles he gave a colored man four dimes for assisting in the work. He told the colored man to put the dimes in his pocket, and then the magician reached down and picked the money out of one of the shoes of the negro.

"You should take better care of your money," said Maro. "Oh, I have that money in my pocket," was the response. He felt in his pocket and a great look of astonishment came over his face. The money was again given the colored man and he was cautioned to look more carefully out for the dimes if he expected the dollars would take care of themselves. The colored man was afraid and thought he had met the devil face to face—or his private secretary.

When the money was paid Maro for his entertainment last evening great precaution was taken. The cash was placed on a table and the magician invited to help himself. He did and he rolled the bills up in a little wad and they disappeared. He then accused a small boy of stealing the cash and inaugurated a search which revealed that the lad had the money stuffed up the leg of his trousers.

LAY IT TO CATS.

House Pets Are in Disfavor at Galien at Present.

A Galien dispatch says: Soon after the 14-year-old son of Landlord Hall was attacked by a malignant form of diphtheria, the house cat showed every symptom of the disease, its throat being badly inflamed. After watching the cat for some time, the doctors had it killed.

At the house of Charles Springer, where the first case broke out a year ago, the pet cat became sick in a similar manner but nothing was thought of it. The doctors believe that house pets have much to do with spreading disease.

NEW ICE HOUSE.

George Mills Will Build One for C. T. Warner on the St. Joseph River.

Clarence T. Warner yesterday let the contract to George Mills of this city for the construction of a new ice house at the new summer resort, Somerleyton, on the banks of the St. Joseph river.

The new building will be 20x40, 16 feet high and have a capacity of 300 tons of ice which will be used for the resorters' cottages, the hotel and refreshment stands, which will be built at the new resort early in the spring.

Several lots have already been sold and it is expected that many cottages will be built.

BUCHANAN INSTALLATION.

The Modern Woodmen Will Soon Move Into Their New Hall.

Buchanan, Jan. 12.—The Buchanan camp, No. 886, Modern Woodmen of America held their installation and banquet Friday evening, January 7. Past Venerable Consul S. Arney having charge of the installation service. Succeeding this a varied program was rendered as follows: Music, mandolin club; select reading, Mrs. E. S. Roe; male quartette, Messrs. Boardman, Roe, East, Monroe; recitation, Master Louis Runner; duet, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Boardman; recitation, Ruby Phelps; solo, Mrs. W. F. Runner; select reading, Mrs. H. D. Rough; solo, Mrs. D. H. Bower; recitation, Miss Alice Phelps; music, mandolin club.

The 250 members, guests and friends did ample justice to the banquet prepared and all speak in praise of the table arrangements and efficiency of the committee in charge. This annual gathering is becoming more the event in society circles each year.

This popular organization has a membership here of 150 and is adding new members at nearly every meeting. After February 1 they will be in their new hall which will be one of the finest in the state and hope to be like the noble order, ever advancing.

RAVAGES OF CONSUMPTION.

Its Spread As Terrible As the Spread of Cholera.

Lansing, Jan. 12.—A Tuscola county physician reports to the state board of health a case which is showing the ravages of consumption. A farmer there died after two years' illness with tuberculosis. Two years later his widow remarried. Her three children died of tuberculosis within five years after their father's death. Next the mother died, followed by two of her second husband's children. Her second husband then died, after a lingering illness.

The only living son inherited the place where all these deaths occurred. He married a wealthy girl, but within a year she died of tuberculosis. The disease spread to two adjoining farms, one death occurring on each. Last fall the only surviving member of the original family had to go to Colorado for his health.

It is claimed that for miles on every side of the infected farm house, with the two exceptions mentioned, there has not been a death from tuberculosis in twenty-eight years.

FOR SORE THROAT.

Gargling is Useless If It Be An Inflammation.

A TIMELY HINT THAT MAY BECOME USEFUL.

There is a tablet being sold by the druggists that embodies the scientific principles of curing all throat affections. It is the only real cough remedy there is. Some of our grandmothers will dispute this assertion because it does not require a teaspoon and a bottle to administer the medicine.

But the new way of putting all the active principles of medicines into a compressed tablet instead of diluting them with syrup is an easier method of handling and a better plan of taking the medicine into the stomach or allowing it to gradually dissolve in the mouth and thus spreading its tonic or sedative qualities over the entire mucous surfaces of the respiratory system. Physicians have long sought for a remedy that would influence not only the nerves and the mucous linings but one that any person would willingly take, whether an infant or an adult.

Cough drops and candies have more of a soothing effect upon the appetite for sweets than as a cure for coughs but the tablets are all medicine, and unlike the drops are harmless. They contain enough sugar to render them palatable and are made soft so that young children will take them as readily as an older person. These tablets are sold under the name of Dr. Leon's Cough Tablets at 50 cents a box. They are prepared by Davis & Morlan, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Notice to Water Takers.

Users of city water are reminded that water rentals for the current term were due January 1, 1898. The ordinance provides that where rental is not paid within 10 days from time due the water may be shut off without further notice. No provision is made for sending out a collector, and parties taking water should call at the clerk's office promptly and pay their bills. The clerk is ordered and expected to shut off water after waiting a reasonable time for payment.

All persons are forbidden to use water from hydrants or taps not belonging to themselves, except in cases where special permits are granted, and all persons having taps or hydrants are warned not to allow others to take water from the same, under penalty of having water shut off. This rule will be strictly enforced.

A WRESTLING ON THE CANADIAN

One day upon the white, brown veined sand, upon a small patch. Full news he bore. Bruce had been passed when, lo! upon the shore struck in deep menace many a steel clad hand of the wave army. Then 'twixt sea and land rose the stern strife, high raging more and more. Till all the land lay sodden, wet and sore, and the sea soldiers' plumes with fury fanned. Caught in the conflict, hissed the snaky palm, and far, far out among the gleaming host a billow rolled a ship that prayed for calm and sunny haven. As a weeping ghost she dripped and shivered till, like a sweet palm, the sea sang, and she saw the smiling coast. —Louise Morgan Bill in Century.

THE REAL BURGLAR.

BY CHARLES D. LEWIS.

From the time I could read the life and adventures of "Sixteen String Jack" up to a few months ago I had a profound admiration for the highwayman. Next to the highwayman came the burglar. I don't know but he was an equal favorite in my imagination. For years I left doors unlocked and windows open, hoping a burglar would call, but for reasons unknown to me my house was avoided.

A few weeks ago I was left to keep bachelor's hall while the rest of the family paid a visit in the country. One night at midnight, as I peacefully slept in my bed, something happened to arouse me. It took me a minute or two to discover what that something was, but I made no mistake. A man stood over me with a cocked revolver held close to my head, and as he saw that I was awake he growled:

"Now, then, I want to talk to yer. If yer go to raisin any row, yer'll git a bullet plumb through yer head." "Who are you?" I asked. "Yer kin call me most any name." "And what do you want here?" "I'm after the swag." "Then you must be a burglar?" "Fur sure."

So my burglar had come at last. I sat up in bed to get a good look at him, and after one glance I felt sick at heart. The burglar of my imagination had always looked the gentleman. This fellow was a low browed, common looking man who hadn't been shaved for a week even if he had washed his face or combed his hair during that period. He not only looked common, but he looked low minded and tricky. I had always given a burglar credit for wearing good clothes, but this man had on a cheap suit, and it was badly worn in spots. I was disappointed and disgusted, and he saw I was at a loss asked:

"Are you sure that you are a burglar?" I queried.

"Of course I am. Haven't I bin arrested five or six times and served two different sentences fur burglary?"

"That may be, but I had a different idea of the fraternity. You are not an intelligent looking man. You wear very shabby clothes. You can't speak ten words without making a slip in your grammar. Be candid with me. Aren't you a chap who got in here by mistake? Wasn't it your plan to rob the clothes-line or steal something from the wood shed?"

"What yer givin me, ole man?" he exclaimed as he tapped me on the head with the muzzle of his pistol. "After I gits through with yer yer'll think I'm a burglar fast 'nuff. 'Git over ag'in the wall! Now, then, if yer move a finger I'll bore yer!"

One side of my bed stood against the wall, and I moved over at his bidding. My clothing hung on a chair at the foot of the bed, and he laid down his pistol and picked up the garments in succession and searched them. From my trousers he took a roll of money amounting to about $40, from my vest a gold watch, from the breast pocket of my coat some papers of no value to him, and after a glance he returned them. On the dresser was my diamond scarfpin, and when he had placed that with the other plunder I said:

"I have always believed that men were driven to burglary through poverty or misfortune or unjust treatment. How was it in your case?"

"I went into the bizness because I wanted sunthin dead easy," he replied, with a solemn wink of his left eye.

"And doesn't a burglar's conscience trouble him now and then?"

"I never heard if it did. If the purleece lets us alone, our consciences are all right. Where's the rest of the stuff, ole man?"

"Are you asking if I have anything else of value you can carry off?"

"Fur sure! This is no haul. There isn't 'nuff money in this to pay me fur walkin half a mile."

"It will figure up close to $300, and it seems to me that is pretty fair pay for an hour's work."

"Shet up. Now, then, git outer bed."

"What for?"

"I'm goin to tie yer fast while I ransacks the crib. Where's the wife and children?"

"Out in the country."

"That's good. I'll hev the crib all to meself. Put on yer trousers. Now sit down."

He placed the chair against the radiator, and as I sat down he whipped a sheet off the bed, tore it in strips and tied me to both chair and radiator. He was nervous and alarmed all the time, but attempted to hide it by bluster. I finally told him that he ought to be ashamed of such nerve and was rewarded by a cuff on the ear which kept my head ringing for five minutes. When he had secured me to his satisfaction, he looked me over and said:

"I'm goin down into the kitchen for sunthin to eat, and if yer try any tricks on me I'll be the wuss fur yer."

"It is no use to go down," I replied. "There has been nothing to eat in the house since the folks went away a week ago."

"Then I'll hev to go hungry. Let's see what's in this safe deposit."

He opened all the drawers in the house in search. There were a few odd pieces of jewelry, half a dozen old coins and the baby's savings bank, containing 110 pennies.

"You wouldn't rob a baby, would you?" I asked as he poured the pennies into the pocket of his sack coat.

"And why not?" he queried with a cunning leer. "It's the bizness of a burglar to take all what comes."

"Well, that's another disappointment. I supposed the burglar to be above robbing infants of their pennies. If I'd had the least idea that any such man as you was around, I'd have taken precautions to keep you out. By the way, how did you enter?"

"By the kitchen door."

"Yes, I left it unlocked in order to save a burglar time and trouble. Where are you going now?"

"I'll take a look about. If yer yell out or try to git away, I'll be right on to yer in a minute!"

He left the bedroom and went down the hall, and I heard him in the guest's chamber and the servant's room. He was gone about ten minutes, and when he came back he was in bad temper. As I wasn't stocked up for burglars he had found no other plunder.

"Look here, cully!" he growled as he stood looking at me. "I hev'n't found no bunkbook yit."

"I might look around here myself for six months and not find one," I answered.

"But if yer don't bank yer swag where is it?"

"Whenever I have a dollar left I give it to the Society of Reformed Burglars."

"Oh, yer does, eh? Well, I want more money. See? Yer got money hid somewhere, and if yer don't shell out I'll cripple yer!"

"You've got every dollar in the house."

With that he pulled up a chair, sat down, took a match from his pocket and lifted one of my bare feet on his knee. He was going to burn the sole of my foot to make me betray the hiding place of my cash.

"Will yer tell or take this?" he demanded as he scratched the match on the floor.

I was about to answer when I saw the form of a policeman in the door. He had seen lights flickering about up stairs, had entered the yard to find the side door and the kitchen door open. Suspecting that all was not right, he had entered the house and looked about and made his way up stairs. My burglar had his back to the door. As he held the lighted match in his fingers the officer stepped forward and gave him a blow with his club, which knocked him off the chair and seemed for awhile to have finished his career. When the handcuffs had been slipped on his wrists, I was untied, and the officer and I sat down to compare notes and wait for the fellow to regain consciousness. We didn't hasten matters by the use of brandy or water or a palm leaf fan. We gave him all the time he wanted, and meanwhile I went through him and recovered my own. After a long half hour my burglar opened his eyes and up and inquired:

"What's goin on here?"

"Nothing much," I answered. "You were not satisfied with taking all I had, but were going to torture me in hopes of getting another shilling or two. This officer came in just then and cracked your head."

"And I'm a prisoner?"

"You are."

"Say, gents, I'm a poor, unfortunate man and was driven to this, and I hope yer'll take pity on me," he whined, having no more pluck than a child.

"I thought burglars were brave, determined men," I said.

"No, sir, they are not. If yer'll let me go, I'll leave this part of the country and never come back. Gents, think of me dear old mother."

"What! Do burglars have dear old mothers to weep and worry when arrested and prison come?"

"Yes, sir, and my wife will be so upset that she won't be able to go to her washin."

"Then you are the husband of a wash-woman?"

"It's true, sir. See, gents—I'm weepin. I'm as sorry as I kin be, and if yer'll let me go I'll never even steal an apple as long as I live. Try me, gents—try a broken hearted, sorrowful man, who must have been walkin in his sleep, or he'd never hev got in here."

And that was my ideal, my hero, my burglar. He had come after a score of years of waiting, and I had found him ignorant, vicious and only a step above the brutes. I went away and sat down by the hall window and gave way to my grief and disappointment, while the officer lifted the mudsill to his feet and walked him down stairs and escorted him to the station. I hoped the man might nerve up and become a hero as he faced the judge and jury; but, alas, he pleaded guilty, shed tears when sentenced, and as they took him away he turned back to me and whispered:

"Yes, sir, I'm a burglar, and I axes yer humble parding fur disturbin of yer sleep that night."

Automatic Photography.

An automatic photograph of a deer taken at midnight is one of the marvels of photography. This was secured by means of an automatic arrangement devised by Charles Hughes of Red Bluff, Cal. By a mechanical device the deer, in touching a linen thread while moving along a trail at midnight, put in action the movement which opened the camera, flashed the magnesium powder and then closed the shutter.

Activity Accounted For.

"I have been reading," said Mrs. Darley, "Lord Kelvin's astounding statement that there are 1,000,000,000 molecules in a cubic inch of gas and that in each of these molecules there are several atoms moving among themselves at the rate of 70 miles a minute."

"Gracious!" replied Mr. Darley. "Is it any wonder that the gas meter is endowed with perpetual motion?"—Detroit Free Press.

IN A BAD CONDITION.

How a Benton Harbor Lady Experienced Beneficial Change.

"After having a severe attack of the grip I was left in a bad condition and had no appetite. I saw Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised as a blood purifier and building-up medicine, and determined to try it. After taking three bottles I felt like myself again. I was stronger and I continued its use until I was entirely cured." Mrs. N. M. COPELAND, 187 Michigan St., Benton Harbor, Mich. Take Hood's.

A MASTER OF MAGIC.

Maro Picked Apples from Air, Coins from Hair and Whiskers and Mystified Everybody.

HIS TRICKS NOT DETECTED.

He Pulled a Long Fish Pole, Live Duck, and Other Things from R. M. Jones' Vest.

Benton Harbor never knew what a crowd surging the doors of a church for admission was until last evening. The doors of the Methodist church were opened for the Maro entertainment at 7:30 and it was half an hour later until the crowd in front of the church was cleared. It was the largest audience that ever attended an entertainment at the church. The lecture committee had no idea of the vast number waiting admittance or they would have opened the tower entrance of the church as well as the main entrance.

Prof. Maro is the most wonderful sleight-of-hand performer ever seen in the city. He began the entertainment by throwing cards about the church, little flimsy pieces of pasteboard containing his picture. These he threw with no seeming effort to all parts of the house, even reaching the galleries. Then he went rapidly from one trick to another, doing the most remarkable things and no one could see how. He had a piece of brown paper and rolled it into the shape of a cornucopia and showed it to the audience empty. Then instantly he again exhibited the receptacle and it contained a bouquet of flowers. This he continued until from seemingly nowhere he had called on the stage half a bushel of flowers. He borrowed the hat of C. D. Jennings and right before the face of the audience and to the surprise of Mr. Jennings he pulled out a pack of cards that looked as though they had done long service. The hat was given another shake and out crawled two nice white rabbits that looked very cunning and seemed to enjoy their strange surroundings. The magician picked up the rabbits and declared that he had no use for more than one and so he put one inside of the other, at least he said he did, and it looked as though he was keeping his word. Presently he accused James Baley of taking one of the rabbits and he rushed down to the middle of the church and pulled the little white rabbit from under Mr. Baley's coat. He picked apples out of the air, silver coins from the hair and whiskers of the audience and did a hundred other things that could not be explained.

The second part of the program consisted of music, and Maro showed himself an artistic player on several instruments the best being the music he drew from a banjo that had but one string. The spiritual seance was not given as the stage was too small for its introduction.

The entertainment closed by the professor getting R. M. Jones to the platform. The magician first removed several packs of cards from the vest of his victim, then drew a 10 foot fish pole from the inside pocket of the same vest and after that about 25 yards of ribbon. There was great applause and while the cheering was at its height the professor reached inside the vest and pulled out a live duck. Mirth was running over as Maro bowed himself off the stage.

In order to perform his tricks Maro carries with him a drayload of fixtures, including cages for his duck and two white rabbits. He came here from Marshall yesterday and in making the transfer at Niles he gave a colored man four dimes for assisting in the work. He told the colored man to put the dimes in his pocket, and then the magician reached down and picked the money out of one of the shoes of the negro.

"You should take better care of your money," said Maro. "Oh, I have that money in my pocket," was the response. He felt in his pocket and a great look of astonishment came over his face. The money was again given the colored man and he was cautioned to look more carefully out for the dimes if he expected the dollars would take care of themselves. The colored man was afraid and thought he had met the devil face to face—or his private secretary.

When the money was paid Maro for his entertainment last evening great precaution was taken. The cash was placed on a table and the magician invited to help himself. He did and he rolled the bills up in a little wad and they disappeared. He then accused a small boy of stealing the cash and inaugurated a search which revealed that the lad had the money stuffed up the leg of his trousers.

An Explosive Social.

An "Explosive Motto" social will be given under the auspices of the Epworth league at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. French, Friday evening, January 14.

LAY IT TO CATS.

House Pets Are in Disfavor at Gallien at Present.

A Gallien dispatch says: Soon after the 14-year-old son of Landlord Hall was attacked by a malignant form of diphtheria, the house cat showed every symptom of the disease, its throat being badly inflamed. After watching the cat for some time, the doctors had it killed.

At the house of Charles Springer, where the first case broke out a year ago, the pet cat became sick in a similar manner but nothing was thought of it. The doctors believe that house pets have much to do with spreading disease.

NEW ICE HOUSE.

George Mills Will Build One for C. T. Warner on the St. Joseph River.

Clarence T. Warner yesterday let the contract to George Mills of this city for the construction of a new ice house at the new summer resort, Somerleyton, on the banks of the St. Joseph river.

The new building will be 20x40, 16 feet high and have a capacity of 300 tons of ice which will be used for the resorters' cottages, the hotel and refreshment stands, which will be built at the new resort early in the spring.

Several lots have already been sold and it is expected that many cottages will be built.

BUCHANAN INSTALLATION.

The Modern Woodmen Will Soon Move Into Their New Hall.

Buchanan, Jan. 12.—The Buchanan camp, No. 886, Modern Woodmen of America held their installation and banquet Friday evening, January 7. Past Venerable Consul S. Arney having charge of the installation service. Succeeding this a varied program was rendered as follows: Music, mandolin club; select reading, Mrs. E. S. Roe; male quartette, Messrs. Boardman, Roe, East, Monroe; recitation, Master Louis Runner; duet, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Boardman; recitation, Ruby Phelps; solo, Mrs. W. F. Runner; select reading, Mrs. H. D. Rough; solo, Mrs. D. H. Bower; recitation, Miss Allie Phelps; music, mandolin club.

The 250 members, guests and friends did ample justice to the banquet prepared and all speak in praise of the table arrangements and efficiency of the committee in charge. This annual gathering is becoming more the event in society circles each year.

This popular organization has a membership here of 150 and is adding new members at nearly every meeting. After February 1 they will be in their new hall which will be one of the finest in the state and hope to be like the noble order, ever advancing.

RAVAGES OF CONSUMPTION.

Its Spread As Terrible As the Spread of Cholera.

Lansing, Jan. 12.—A Tuscola county physician reports to the state board of health a case which is showing the ravages of consumption. A farmer there died after two years' illness with tuberculosis. Two years later his widow remarried. Her three children died of tuberculosis within five years after their father's death. Next the mother died, followed by two of her second husband's children. Her second husband then died, after a lingering illness.

The only living son inherited the place where all these deaths occurred. He married a wealthy girl, but within a year she died of tuberculosis. The disease spread to two adjoining farms, one death occurring on each. Last fall the only surviving member of the original family had to go to Colorado for his health.

It is claimed that for miles on every side of the infected farm house, with the two exceptions mentioned, there has not been a death from tuberculosis in twenty-eight years.

FOR SORE THROAT.

Gargling is Useless If It Be An Inflammation.

A TIMELY HINT THAT MAY BECOME USEFUL.

There is a tablet being sold by the druggists that embodies the scientific principles of curing all throat affections. It is the only real cough remedy there is. Some of our grandmothers will dispute this assertion because it does not require a teaspoon and a bottle to administer the medicine.

But the new way of putting all the active principles of medicines into a compressed tablet instead of diluting them with syrup is an easier method of handling and a better plan of taking the medicine into the stomach or allowing it to gradually dissolve in the mouth and thus spreading its tonic or sedative qualities over the entire mucous surfaces of the respiratory system.

Physicians have long sought for a remedy that would influence not only the nerves and the mucous linings but one that any person would willingly take, whether an infant or an adult.

Cough drops and candies have more of a soothing effect upon the appetite for sweets than as a cure for coughs but the tablets are all medicine, and unlike the drops are harmless. They contain enough sugar to render them palatable and are made soft so that young children will take them as readily as an older person. These tablets are sold under the name of Dr. Leon's Cough Tablets at 50 cents a box. They are prepared by Davis & Morlan, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Notice to Water Takers.

Users of city water are reminded that water rentals for the current term were due January 1, 1898. The ordinance provides that where rental is not paid within 10 days from time due the water may be shut off without further notice. No provision is made for sending out a collector, and parties taking water should call at the clerk's office promptly and pay their bills. The clerk is ordered and expected to shut off water after waiting a reasonable time for payment.

All persons are forbidden to use water from hydrants or taps not belonging to themselves, except in cases where special permits are granted, and all persons having taps or hydrants are warned not to allow others to take water from the same, under penalty of having water shut off. This rule will be strictly enforced.

TWIN CITY TELEPHONE 172.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 12, 1898.

FOR the 'steenth time in two months it is reported that Governor Pingree has decided to call the legislature in special session.

OHIO's politicians have a queer idea of the propriety of things. When Senator Hanna received the coveted 56 votes in the house that body rose up as one man and sang, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

EVERY grand jury called in Berrien county since John G. Holmes was born has enjoyed his presence as a member. People are beginning to think that a grand jury in this county without Mr. Holmes is about as incomplete as the Benton Harbor tunnel company without an injunction.

SHORTLY after Buffalo Bill's Wild West appeared here a year ago all the boys in the city provided themselves with lassos and happy was the boy or dog who was not caught. To keep in touch with the procession it will now be in order for local young America to pull live rabbits and ducks from the whiskers of their playmates and gold eagles from the ears of their friends.

He Won the Bet.
"I want a pair of ladies' kid gloves," said the sad looking young man.
"Yes," said the elongated haberdashery clerk, with a show of wit. "Not for your sister, of course?"
The sad looking young man blushed painfully.
"N-no," he said slowly. "It's for—for a party. I—I want to win a bet."
"You want to win a bet?" said the clerk inquiringly. "You don't look like a person that would gamble."
"Thanks," said the sad young man. "I—I don't g-gamble as a rule. I g-guess I won't g-gamble any more. You see, this here p-party—she—she—sort of tempted me to bet. I d-don't see how I can afford to lose. If I l-lose, I—I'll be out more than if I won."
"Of course you will," said the clerk sympathetically.
"B-but if I win I'll be out anyway," said the sad one.
"Now you're talking in bunches," said the clerk, by this time well interested. "How's that?"
"W-well," stammered the sad young man, "It—it's the only w-way I c-can figure it. She—she m-made the bet. She s-said she wouldn't c-care if she lost, but s-she'd m-make a fun bet—a fun bet she called it—th-that I wouldn't buy a pair of gloves f-for her. So—so I win the bet. See?"
"And she gets the gloves," said the clerk. "No. 6B? Yes. Tan or purple?"
—New York Journal.

The Evening Fan.
It isn't the thing to wear an evening fan on a gold chain any more. It should be worn on a string of imitation pearls, if you cannot afford the real thing, and few can, since the correct length for the string is seven feet. If a wealthy woman wears one of these ornaments, it is impossible to tell that the jewels are bogus, or at least that's what the shopkeepers say. The mock pearls are certainly perfect enough and pretty enough to make the worst wounded oyster in the waters ashamed of the pearl with which he mends his shell. It is also the style to wear these strings wound round and round the neck, dog collar fashion, either with high neck gowns or full dress waists. The prices vary from $3.50 a string to $25.—New York Letter.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to 1 teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Chicago, Jan. 12.—The investigation of the state senate committee into Chicago's police government has ended so far as the presence of the civil service commission or its record is concerned. In the developments of yesterday twenty men were found who had been discharged half a dozen times for various violations of the police regulations, and disclosures were made which surprised the commissioners. They acted upon this at once, and acted upon treatment they had received from the committee by declaring that in their belief it was illegal, unfair and useless. They will accordingly refuse to take any further notice of it.

The attorneys—President Kraus for the civil service commission, and E. R. Bliss for the ex-policemen and committee—were at swords' points throughout the session, and on one occasion Attorney Bliss invited Kraus to "step outside and settle it, and I'll show you." President Kraus declared that Bliss was "a villain," and refused to permit him to handle any documents belonging to the commission for the reason that "we cannot trust him with anything." It depends on the legality of the legislative committee whether the commission will "ignore" it, and that point is the one upon which the commission bases its refusal to appear any further.

ALL DRUGGISTS.

A well known Scottsboro squire was in the habit of poaching on his neighbor, who mentioned one Richards as the most notorious poacher of the neighborhood. Soon after the squire happened to meet this Richards, who asserted that he could get game whenever he wanted it, keepers or no keepers. This annoyed the squire, who said: "Well, if you bring me a hare tomorrow off my own estate I'll give you a guinea for it."

"What! An you a J. P.?"

"Oh, that'll be all right!"

"Well, then, done, sir!"

Next day the grinning poacher arrived and was shown into the study.

"Well, have you got him?"

For answer he opened the sack, out of which jumped a fine hare, which rushed wildly round the room, seeking to escape.

"Why, haven't you killed it?" yelled the indignant squire.

"No, sir," said the poacher, with a grin. "I have no license."—Nuggets.

Michigan Crop Report.

The ground in the principal wheat growing sections of Michigan was bare of snow until about the 17th of December, and lightly covered from this date to the end of the month. The prevailing opinion among correspondents is that wheat was injured very little, if at all, during December.

In answer to the question, "Has wheat during December suffered injury from any cause?" 47 correspondents in the state answer "yes," and 625 "no," and in answer to the question, "Has the ground been well covered with snow during December?" 87 correspondents in the southern counties answer "yes," and 284 "no," in the central counties 41 answer "yes," and 114 "no," and in the northern counties 60 answer "yes," and 23 "no."

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in December is 1,371,738, and in the five months, August-December, 9,034,054, which is 3,344,811 bushels more than reported marketed in the same months last year.

SKIRTS AND SLEEVES.

The Latest Styles For Out of Door and Visiting Attire.

The newest skirts are soft and pliable, close around the top, except at the extreme back, where the fullness is retained by a fan plait or by a narrow cluster of gathers. No stiffening at all is used in the latest models, the foot of the skirt being allowed to fall in the graceful folds caused by the flaring out of the back. Simplicity of line is the ruling characteristic.

It is the same with sleeves, the bouffancy at the top having almost disappeared, being replaced by a small puff or by a cap or epaulet of some sort, not large. The sleeve itself is tight and long, opening at the side of the wrist to allow the passage of the hand.

For calling and other out of door wear the cape pelerine of sable is the chosen wrap. It consists of a cape coming down to the waist, with long, stole ends in front hanging nearly to the foot of the skirt.

Louis Quince bodices, with a basque, are very appropriate for formal costumes for middle aged women. Brocade or

At the left side is a torsiade of turquoise velvet, which lifts the soft, black crown, and at the edge is another turquoise torsiade, held by a steel buckle. Black ostrich plumes form the trimming. Melting Iron.

The working and works of the great furnaces in this country are interesting in the extreme to those who are fond of knowing the processes by which familiar articles are made. At one of these establishments 2,000 tons of iron ore, coke and limestone are consumed each day. Long trains bring this mixture, which is known to the workmen as "burden," into the works. The cars are brought up on trestles and emptied into long bins. The furnace is kept full and burns continuously. The gases rise and are carried off, and the solid matter, gradually dissolving and softening, steadily descends, when the space thus left vacant is immediately filled by the "burden." An examination of the interior of the furnace would show a top layer of crude material with a temperature of about 500 degrees F. A few feet below this the temperature of 1,000 degrees F. has decomposed the limestone and formed carbonic acid and lime. Beneath this there is a stratum with a temperature of 1,500 to 1,700 degrees. In this the iron is reduced from the ore and is taking up carbon. Below this the iron is melted and fills the receptacles.

Above the iron is the slag, which escapes through a hole at the top of the hearth. At the bottom of the hearth is a narrow opening from which the cast iron is taken. A furnace is tapped six times a day and furnishes about 700 tons of iron daily. When the furnace is empty, the tap hole is closed with clay. When it is again filled, this clay is broken out, and the melted metal at a white heat flows down through the channels, spreading to the right and left into the smaller depressions prepared for its reception. These are so arranged that the molds at the extreme edges fill first, and those near the furnaces are the last ones to be completed. —New York Ledger.

AN INNOVATION IN RAILROADING.

A Parlor-Cafe Car Now Running on Daylight Special of Illinois Central between Chicago and St. Louis.

The Illinois Central has substituted for the parlor car, formerly running on its day train between Chicago and St. Louis, a new composite parlor-cafe car, built for the Company at the Pullman Shops especially for service on its fast, vestibule, solid "Daylight Special" train to St. Louis. The parlor, in the Empire style, is finished in mahogany, with darker panels of the same, the latter being richly inlaid with marquetry composed of various shaded woods. Its furnishing includes easy, luxurious revolving arm-chairs, upholstered with green frieze plush. The ceiling overhead (in which are fixed brilliant Plinthe gas chandeliers of the latest pattern) are decorated in gold, and in color and design are in harmony, as also is the rich Wilton carpet on the floor beneath, with the plush and mahogany finish of the rest of the room. The cafe is in general design and color scheme in harmony with the parlor, and has tables at which parties of four may be seated, and tables at which couples can dine tete-a-tete. A complete kitchen adjoins the cafe, and meals will be served en route from a varied menu at reasonable prices; the cafe feature to be conducted in the same general way for patrons of the entire train as are the cafe cars on the Central running West out of Chicago, and which have proved so popular. The car also contains a gentleman's smoking room, in connection with which is a buffet from which cigars and liquid refreshments can be obtained. The car as a whole is of substantial construction and elegant finish. The features of this car are particularly adapted to Hot Springs, Ark., travel, the Daylight special leaving Chicago every forenoon, making the run to St. Louis in eight hours, and giving good connection in Union Station with trains for Hot Springs.

Dr. McDonald has for years made a study and specialty of chronic and lingering diseases that require skillful medical treatment for their cure. Such cases as family physicians fail to help and pronounce incurable are particularly solicited, especially those overdone with strong mineral drugs and poisons. Dr. McDonald uses only the purest medicines from the vegetable kingdom. He pays attention to the cause of the disease and instructs his patients the way to health and happiness. Dr. McDonald can show hundreds of testimonials in the hand writing of grateful patients who have been cured by him when others failed. He is so familiar with the human system that he is able to read all diseases of the mind or body correctly at a glance without asking any questions. Thousands of invalids are being treated daily for diseases that they do not have, while a few drops of medicine directed to the seat of the disease would give speedy relief, and permanent cure in a very short time. Good health is the most precious jewel in our crown of happiness. With it the world is bright; without it, misery claims us for her own. If you are a sufferer you should weigh well these words: A person who neglects his health is guilty of a great wrong to himself and a grave injury to humanity. The name of Dr. McDonald, the well-known specialist in the cure of chronic and lingering diseases, has become a household word in thousands of homes which his skill and wonderful remedies have made happy by restoring dear ones to health after all hopes were lost. The doctor is a graduate of the highest and best medical colleges, and his advanced theories in the treatment of chronic diseases surprise the most skeptical. All chronic diseases of the EYE, EAR, THROAT, HEART, STOMACH, LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BOWELS, scientifically and successfully treated! Dr. McDonald has made a special study of all diseases of the brain and nervous system, and all delicate and obscure diseases peculiar to women. Dr. McDonald's Special Remedies are a permanent cure for men suffering from nervous and sexual debility and early decay. Rheumatic and paralytic cripples made to walk; catarrhal deafness positively cured and many made to hear a whisper in a very few minutes. All aches and pains fade away under his magical remedies. Epilepsy or falling sickness positively cured through his new method of treatment. Special attention given to catarrh and diseases of the blood.

Those unable to call write for question blank. Hundreds cured through correspondence. Medicines sent everywhere. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Address

NOT A VOTE TO SPARE

But Enough is as Good as a Feast in the Case of Marcus
Aurelius Hanna.

HAS THESE SEVENTY-THREE HE WANTS

And Only Needs to Hold Them Till This Afternoon—But the "Combine" Keeps Up the Fight to Defeat Him All Night and There May Be a Break in His Ranks—McKisson Chosen by the Fusionists—His Alleged Pledge to the Caucus.

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—The factional warfare against Senator Hanna is not over. It will have at least one more day of charges and counter-charges. The fight has never been more bitter than now. Hanna received 73 votes yesterday, a majority of one over all in a total membership of 145. The senate voted 19 for McKisson and 17 for Hanna. The house vote stood: Hanna, 56; McKisson, 49; Wiley, 1; Warner, 1; Lentz, 1, and one absent. The only absentee was Representative Cramer, the Democratic-Populist member from Paulding county, who is seriously sick. His physicians stated last night that he could not possibly be in his seat today. After the vote was recorded yesterday in each branch of the legislature separately a majority of a quorum of those present is all that is necessary in the joint balloting, so that the serious illness of Cramer might become an important factor.

Will Announce No Election.

The scattering vote yesterday for Lentz, Wiley and Warner was cast by Representative Wiley, Hazlett and Hess—all Democrats. If Cramer had been present and all other Democrats in line McKisson's vote in the house would have been 63, or still three short of a majority in that branch of the legislature. With Hanna having a majority of three in the house, and McKisson having a majority of 2 in the senate, the chair will announce today that there was no election yesterday and that a joint ballot will be in order. As soon as the two bodies meet in joint convention at noon today their respective journals of yesterday will be read and the lieutenant governor will make the usual official declaration.

Contest Went on All Night.

If all the senators and representatives are recorded on the joint ballot today as they were recorded yesterday on their respective ballots Hanna will have a majority of only one over all. But in the absence of Cramer, and by some of the Democrats refusing to vote for McKisson, he is likely to have a larger majority of record on the journal of the joint convention. With the result apparently hanging on the change of only one vote the contest continued all last night, the same as it has been going on here other nights for the past two weeks.

Burned Their Bridges Behind Them.

The seven Republicans who refused to vote for Hanna yesterday have since signed statements that burn the bridges behind them. Senator Burke and Representatives Scott, Mason, Jones and Rutan say they will vote for Hanna if the Otis charges are proven to be untrue. Representatives Otis and Bramley, however, simply signed a codicil to the statement of the other five in which they concur in asking for an investigation, but they state that they will not vote for Hanna under any circumstances. While the bureau of claims and charges are in full operation on both sides, as usual there are also reports about the bribery charges being presented to the grand jury of Hamilton county and of Franklin county.

HOW McKISSON WAS SELECTED.

Promise He Is Alleged to Have Made to the Democratic Caucus.

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—The Democratic caucus Monday night lasted practically all night and was a stormy gathering. It was found absolutely impossible to agree upon either Governor Bushnell or Charles L. Kurtz. Both names were considered and both were given up as impracticable candidates. When the name of Mayor McKisson was suggested the Democrats demanded to know whether McKisson was a free silver man. Not content with the assurance of Myers and other leaders of the fusion, they sent for McKisson. When that gentleman appeared, he made a speech to the caucus in which he said in substance: "Gentlemen, publicly and before the people, I am and must be a Republican. But I assure you and pledge you that if elected to the United States senate by this fusion, I will stand upon the Chicago platform." This, as alleged, got him the fusion nomination, but now McKisson denies that he pledged himself and Democrats and others present confirm his denial and state that McKisson said he was a bimetalist and opposed to the policy of Secretary Gage, but that he would not stand for the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Hardly had the result of the balloting in the legislature been announced yesterday before a surging crowd filled the lobby and corridors of the Neil House and cheers for Hanna swept like waves through the house and out on the streets. Hanna responded to the repeated calls from his friends, and in answer to their demands made a speech congratulating them on behalf of the Republican party for the auspicious outcome. "It is not so much a matter of personality with me," said he. "It is a question of keeping the pledges and upholding the integrity of the party, and of giving heed to the will of the people." The excited crowd lifted the senator from the floor, and man after man embraced him, while others were shaking both hands.

Finally the crowd was held back and got into line and for fully an hour the senator stood and grasped the hands and listened to the exultant congratulations of the crowd. "Thank God, the right will prevail!" "Praise God for Whom All Blessings Flow," "Glory, Hallelujah!" and kindred expressions filled the air in choral singing. The crowds cheering continued unabated during the afternoon. The feeling of relief among the Republicans was indescribable. They realized only the imtravagant expressions of pleasure. The whole city was wild with excitement.

MORE TALK OF INDICTMENTS.

Two Cases of Bribery, One from Each Side, May Be Investigated.

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—Representative Otis claims that an agent of Senator Hanna offered him $10,000 to vote for Hanna. The offer, he says, was made at Cincinnati. The grand jurors are in session in this and Hamilton counties and there were current reports last night of efforts to secure indictments in this and other cases before noon today. As Representative Otis claims to have been offered a bribe at his home in Cincinnati that case could be brought only before the grand jury of Hamilton county, and it would be necessary for Representative Otis to be there as a witness. Otis and others who would be wanted as witnesses in that case were here last night and it is not thought to be probable that Otis would be absent today. If the vote is cast today as it was cast yesterday the absence of Otis and others opposed to Hanna would have no effect on the result.

Another case of alleged bribery comes from the other side. Representative Snider, of Green county, who has been stepping at the Neil House during the past week, voted yesterday for Hanna, for Boxwell for speaker last Monday a week, and attended the Republican house caucus one week ago last Saturday. The opponents of Hanna have been after him closely and constantly. It is alleged that Madley came to the Neil House last week to see Snider and that he claimed to represent Kurtz and Bliss. Representative Snider had been anticipating the visit, and a stenographer was concealed in the bath room adjoining his apartments. It is charged that Snider was offered $5,000 for his vote and that the names of his backers were given by the caller.

"It seems to me that Ohio has spoken. While it is not likely that any indictment will be made, yet it is quite probable that there will be an attempt in the legislature today for a dramatic scene on the charges of bribery. The opposition is charging the Hanna men with voting down the motions and the resolutions yesterday for an investigation of the bribery charges made by Otis. The Hanna men say they will give the fullest consideration to this investigation at the proper time, but that the purpose of these charges now is to stampede the legislature on the balloting for senator, and that such a scheme cannot be carried through. Some of the Hanna men also state that at the proper time they will reorganize the house, as the vote of yesterday showed that they had a majority of three over all in that body.

Former Is Glad It's Over.

Washington, Jan. 12.—When asked his opinion last night on the subject of the first day's balloting in the Ohio senatorial situation Senator Foraker said: "It seems to me that Ohio has spoken for herself, and that there is not much more else to say." And that is all he would say. As to where his affections were he was mum.

MODIFIERS CAN WIN.

Change in the Civil Service Law
Not Prevented by Strength of Its Friends.

TEST VOTE IN THE HOUSE A TIE.

And That After Three Modifiers Had Changed Their Votes—Speaker Saves the Day for Shutting Off Debate and the Bill Passes Without a Straight Issue Being Made in the Struggle—Senate Hears Fairbanks on Immigration Restriction.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The civil service debate which was inaugurated in the house a week ago ended yesterday. It opened with a roar, but ended very tamely. There was not even a vote on the appropriation in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill for the commission, upon which the debate was predicated. The Republicans who are seeking to modify or repeal the law decided to let the debate come to a close yesterday, but it required the casting vote of the speaker to accomplish this. There are conflicting statements as to the situation in which the future conduct of the war against the civil service law is left. All the Republican opponents of the law agree that the fight is to be kept up, and it is positively stated by Pearson of North Carolina that assurances have been received from those in authority in the house that an opportunity will be given in the future for the consideration of a bill to modify the law.

How the Closure Was Carried.

A standing vote was first taken on closing the debate, and it appeared to be 92 to 85 in favor of closing. A roll call was demanded and when that had been taken, the motion to close debate stood defeated by six votes. A recapitulation of the vote was called for and it was whispered about that assurances had been received from the rules committee that time would be given for the consideration of a measure prepared by the Republican opponents of the law. Three Republicans then changed their votes, making it a tie. The speaker announced the vote, 125 to 125.

"A tie," added the speaker, "and the chair votes aye."

Thus the speaker saved the day and the motion to close the debate was carried. The Republicans applauded most vociferously. The debate was then returned.

Brosius Defends the Law.

Brosius, the chairman of the committee on civil service, opened the debate for the day with an elaborate defense of the merit system and an argument for sustaining the law. Pearson of North Carolina asked how the statement that the civil service law was economical could be reconciled with the fact that the employees of the government had almost doubled since 1883. Brosius denied that this was true. The advocates of the spoils system, he said, had repeated this statement until they believed it. Speaking of Grosvenor's attack on Carl Schurz Brosius said the latter probably threw it aside after

SAYS THE DEBATE IS ALL BLUFF.

Simpson of Kansas Impugns the Statesmen's Sincerity—Bailey's Views.

Simpson of Kansas enlivened the closing hour of the debate with a reference to the senatorial contest in Ohio. He said the debate had been prolonged while the Republicans out in Ohio were making promises to the boys in the trenches in the interest of Senator Hanna. It was all a bluff, said Simpson. Nothing was to be done, and now that Senator Hanna's election was secured the mask was thrown off and a vote was to be taken tonight on this bill. Whether the house would have an opportunity later to consider a bill for the modification or repeal of the law would depend on the speaker, said Simpson. "He is the whole thing," exclaimed Simpson, "and runs the house." [Laughter.]

"Have you consulted the speaker," asked Quigg. "No," replied Simpson. "He never consults me and I never consult him."

Bailey of Texas, the leader of the minority, closed the debate with some remarks defining the attitude of the Democrats. It was difficult, he said, to believe in the sincerity of the side when in one breath the Republicans avowed their adherence to the law and in the next demanded its practical destruction. If the law was good, he said, it ought to be extended; if not it should be repealed. The Democrats, he said, were ready to wipe it off the statute books. They did not believe in life tenure, and while the repeal of the law might turn some of their friends out of office they stood by their party platform.

With the conclusion of Bailey's remarks the time expired and the bill was reported to the house. It was then discovered that those who desired to vote to strike out the appropriation for the civil service commission had neglected to make the motion in committee of the whole. No vote, therefore, could be taken and the bill was passed without division.

The senate briefly discussed an adverse report by the pensions committee on a bill to pension General Meade's two daughters at $100 a month each, Chairman Gullinger saying the committee did not wish to enter on the pensioning of daughters of veterans. Allen of Nebraska thought General Meade's great services justified such liberality. No action was taken and Fairbanks addressed the senate on immigration, in favor of its restriction. After this speech the Hawaiian treaty was taken up in executive session, and Davis stated the case of the annexationists.

Would Learn About Venezuela.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Allen introduced and secured the adoption in the senate of a resolution calling upon the president for information in his possession relative to the boundary line between Venezuela and British Guiana, and to inform the senate whether the United States now has any clerks or other employees at work upon the Venezuelan boundary question, and also what part of the $100,000 appropriated for the Venezuelan commission has been expended.

To Meet Canadian Pacific Rates.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The interstate commerce commission has issued an order dated Jan. 1, 1898, continuing in force until Dec. 31, 1898, the order of March 25, 1897, authorizing certain named railroad companies to charge less for the transportation of passengers both east-bound and west-bound for the longer distance by their several connecting lines than for shorter distance in certain sections where these lines come into competition with the Canadian Pacific.

Illinois Democrats at Washington.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The meeting of the Illinois Democratic delegation in the house of representatives to select a member of the Democratic congressional committee, which was to have been held yesterday, went over until noon today.

CLIPPERTON ISLAND GOOD AS OURS

Will Make an Ideal Naval Station and Command the Big Canals.

St. Louis, Jan. 12.—James E. Blythe, a St. Louis representative of the Oceanic Phosphate company operating on Clipperton Island, where on Dec. 14 last marines from the Mexican cruiser Democrita landed and hauled down the American flag, is in the city. He says: "The Oceanic Phosphate company is a San Francisco corporation. The company's claim to the island is all right. Mexico has no territorial claim on it. Clipperton is American by right of discovery and peaceable occupation."

"Clipperton Island could be made an ideal naval and coaling station, commanding any canal that might be cut through the Isthmus of Panama, and also the trade of the Sandwich Islands. It is now the property of the Oceanic Phosphate company, of San Francisco. This company keeps a little garrison of from eight to ten men on the island all the time. It is estimated that there are 1,000,000 tons of high grade guano on the island, worth $16 a ton."

MINE WORKERS IN CONVENTION.

Four Hundred and Sixty-Four Votes Present Representing 60,000 Miners.

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—The ninth annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America opened in this city yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The convention is the largest in the history of the organization, about 300 delegates from the state of Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Indiana and West Virginia being in attendance. President Ratchford presided. The morning session was given up to the organization of the convention. The report of the committee on credentials was presented at the afternoon session. It showed 454 votes were distributed as follows: Ohio, 138; Pennsylvania, 133; West Virginia, 32; Indiana, 51, and Alabama and Kentucky, 7.

Illinois Legislative Proceedings.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 12.—During a brief session of the senate yesterday Fitzpatrick introduced a bill taxing insurance companies 3 per cent. of gross receipts. The revenue committee bill was read the first time and advanced to second reading. The new bill is based on the Berry bill.

In the house Bovey introduced a bill taxing insurance companies 3 per cent. of their gross receipts, and in committee of the whole on the revenue bills several substitutes for sections, etc., were offered but no action was taken.

HOME DRESSMAKING.

HOW THE WHOLE FAMILY CAN DRESS WELL AT SMALL COST.

No Need of Looking Shabby Even Though Times are Hard—Easy to Make Old Gowns and Suits Look Like New When One Knows How.

It is astonishing how much can be made from seemingly useless garments by the woman who knows how. The old faded gown that is out of style can be readily dyed with Diamond Dyes to a fashionable color and then made over so that it will look almost like new. Suits for the boys can be made from old ones discarded by the father, and a bath in Diamond Dyes will make them look like new. Dresses and cloaks for the little girls can be made with but little trouble and scarcely any expense, from cast off garments of the older folks, and when the color is changed with Diamond Dyes, the made-overs will look as though they were fresh from the dressmaker.

Diamond Dyes are made especially for home use, and the plain directions on each package make it impossible for even the most inexperienced to have poor luck with these dyes. They color anything, from ribbons, feathers, and scarfs to heavy coats and gowns, and make perfectly non-fading colors, even handsomer than those made by the professional dyer.

ARE CONFIDENT.

ENTHUSIASTS BELIEVE THAT LOCAL OPTION IS ASSURED.

Rev. L. G. Herbert Declares That the Most Glorious News is Coming from Niles.

Rev. L. G. Herbert was in the city this morning on his way to St. Joseph where he will personally circulate a petition in the interests of local option.

Mr. Herbert says that Berrien county is captured for the cause. That over 4,000 signers will be received to the petition and that the election will be held and the law go into effect by the first of next May.

"It is coming with a rush, with a perfect whirl," he said, "the most glorious of all the reports coming from Niles. Somehow we didn't expect much of that city but already they are working toward 300 signers. I have just received word from St. Joseph that the county seat will do her share."

WITH A DOG.

Hon. Alonzo Plummer Accused of Violating the Game Laws.

Everyone in town knows what a mighty hunter and snoring sportsman ex-Mayor Plummer is. Last fall Mr. Plummer in company with Chief of Police Sterns and others went to the north woods in search of deer and they were successful. The following letter received by Mr. Plummer this morning is causing much comment although the ex-mayor is trying to keep the affair a secret:

Buchanan, Jan. 11. — Hon. Alonzo Plummer, Ex-Mayor of Benton Harbor, Mich., Dear Sir: I am in receipt of a letter from Chase S. Osborne, state game and fish warden, and I am informed also that while you were north last fall you did knowingly pursue deer with a D.O.G. Being a lawyer you are familiar with the provisions of the statutes and the penalty thereto. I suppose you will plead guilty to the charge for we have positive proof of your guilt. To save you any embarrassment that may result from this action I will file a complaint in any court you may suggest. Please let me hear from you at once for I am urged to take action without further delay.

W. A. PALMER,
Deputy Game and Fish Warden.

Clean Your Walks.

Owners of property in Benton Harbor are hereby reminded that section 12 of a city ordinance relative to the use of streets, alleys, bridges, sidewalks, public places and public property expressly provides that when property owners fail to keep their sidewalks free from snow and ice it shall be the duty of the street commissioner to order those sidewalks cleared by the city at the expense of the property owners.

W. B. SHANKLAND,
Street Commissioner.
